used in mercantile pursuits any invention that will facilitate their labors, is highly worthy of notice as well as of extensive patronage. One of the inventions of the present age is that of a pen that possesses the necessary qualities of firmness in mark and durability in use. Such are those of JOHN FOLEY, manufacturer of fine Gold Pens and Pencils, No. 262 Broadway. Their superior value is tested by the long experience of our City in their manufacture. 62 LIBERTY STREET, NEW YORK, May 25, 1868. }
I have been extensively engaged in stationery business with banks, mercantile companies, keeping a large assortment of gold pens of various makers. In persuing the sale of the others, we found it to our interest a few years since, and now, after a trial of seven years, we find the result perfectly satisfactory, and with little or no trouble to ourselves. FOLEY'S Bank Gold Pens the best and most salable pens in this market, particularly for insurance purposes. As we sell a large number of gold pens, we have the same. We therefore recommend both Mr. FOLEY and his excellent products throughout the country.

We have frequently expressed our opinion regarding the gold pens of various makers—but freely and unhesitatingly pronounce JOHN FOLEY'S Gold Pens far superior to them all, particularly for Western trade. We sell them exclusively.

FOLEY'S Pens are made of fine gold, strong and durable, beautifully finished, with fine smooth points, and fully warranted.

Heretofore we have had much trouble with other gold pens. Having thoroughly tested and sold a great many of FOLEY'S, it becomes our pleasant duty to express our candid opinion regarding their unquestioned superiority over all other gold pens in the market. Of the great number we have sold, so far, have not had six returned with points off.
